Second Attack Friday

Death of Former Minister Today.

From the effects of a second paralytic stroke, suffered Friday morning while dressing, the Rev. John Calvin Reighard, retired Lutheran minister, died at his home, 262 Baltimore street, at 5 o'clock this morning.

The minister was first stricken in the pulpit of the Biglerville Lutheran church on August 9, 1925, but had sufficiently recovered to walk about. The second seizure left the Rev. Mr. Reighard unconscious and barely alive.

He was born at Casna, near Altoona, sixty-eight years ago. He was graduated from Gettysburg college with the class of 1888, and from the Lutheran Theological seminary here three years later.

His first charge was at Milroy and subsequently he filled pastorates at McAllisterville, St. Thomas, Blaine and Marysville. He left the active ministry in 1923, moving to Gettysburg.

The Rev. Mr. Reighard was married to Miss Annie Belle Mickle, of Gettysburg, who died June 17, 1917.

He is survived by one daughter, Miss Mary A. Reighard, at home, and by two brothers, J. Marion Reighard, Altoona, and Joseph E. Reighard, Bedford R. D.

He was a member of the Masonic lodge at New Bloomfield and of the Odd Fellows' lodge at St. Clairsville.

MAN IS ARRESTED AFTER COLLISION

Resident of Pigeon Hills Section Said To Have Been Carrying Homebrew.

W. E. Feeser, who resides in the Pigeon Hills district, was arrested by a highway motor patrolman, Friday evening, charged with failing to stop and render assistance after an accident in which the truck he was driving figured near Abbottstown earlier in the day.

Feeser's truck traveling east on the Lincoln Highway, crashed into the sedan, driven westward by Albert Herrman, of Cleveland, Ohio. Immediately after the crash in which no one was injured, Feeser is alleged to have stopped another car and left the scene of the accident.

According to the motor patrolman, Feeser had a case of alleged homebrew beer in his truck. All but one bottle was broken. The contents of that bottle are being examined to determine its alcoholic content.

The patrolman said he has numerous witnesses who are willing to testify that Feeser was under the influence of liquor at the time of the accident. The accident occurred in York county, just across the Adams county line. Both cars were damaged beyond repair according to the patrolman.

Feeser furnished bail for a preliminary hearing next Wednesday afternoon before Justice L. D. Sell in Hanover.

ENTOMOLOGISTS TO TOUR COUNTY

New York and New England
Scientists To View Demonstration Orchard.

Preparatory to attending the annual joint summer meeting of the horticultural societies of Southern Pennsylvania, Maryland, Virginia and West Virginia, at Hancock, Maryland, August 18 and 19, entomologists from New York and New England states will gather here for a tour of Adams county.

R. E. Underwood, Adams county farm agent, is urging local fruit growers to join the visitors here for the tour of Adams county.

The visiting entomologists will leave Gettysburg at 9 a. m., Thursday, August 18. The first stop will be at a large peach orchard near here where spraying experiments will be studied. The Pennsylvania branch experimental station, Arendtsville, where problems of entomology and pathology for Adams county are studied by Dr. S. W. Frost, will next be visited.

Experimental work relative to forest insects will be studied by the visitors at Mont Alto, from where they will go to Waynesboro, where lunch will be served.

The entomologists will be given an opportunity to observe the difference between apple dusting and spraying experiments at the Antietam orchard, near Hagerstown. These experiments are being conducted by Doctor Cory, Maryland state entomologist. After leaving this orchard, the visiting entomologists will go on to Hancock where tours and demonstrations have been arranged.

THREATENS GIRL; IS HELD IN JAIL

York Youth Arrested or Sending Threatening Letters To County Miss.

His threats of "dire harm" to the object of his affections if she continued to spurn him caused the arrest of Charles Leathery, of York, and his confinement in the York county jail, pending an investigation as to his sanity. The object of his unrequited love is Beulah Sowers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William D. Sowers, near East Berlin, this county.

Leathery was given a hearing Friday morning before a York magistrate at which Miss Sowers and her father testified that they were afraid of the youth. They stated that he has written letters to the girl in which he stated that if he "cannot have her no one else shall," and they are afraid he may do some rash act.

Leathery kept company with Miss Sowers more than a year ago, it was testified at the hearing, but she tired of his attentions and told him that she no longer wanted to see or have anything to do with him. Then followed a period in which he made threats against the girl personally and by letter, which led up to his arrest last April. At the hearing he promised to behave himself, to stop writing letters and making threats. So the case was held under advisement indefinitely. It was only a short time later that he began his letters again so frequently that a new charge was made against him.

Easy money continued to supply the motive power for buying operations which were largely of a professional character.

MAN RESPONSIBLE IN DEATH CAUSED BY AUTO ACCIDENT

Coroner's Jury Holds
York Man At Fault
In Death of Mrs.
Sarah Wei-
kert.

Leonard Wolf, York, driver of a machine which collided on July 6 with another machine in which Mrs. Sarah Jane Weikert, of New Oxford, suffered injuries which resulted in her death four days later, was held responsible for the death of the Adams county woman following testimony presented at an inquest in the office of Justice of the Peace Lewis D. Sell, Hanover, Friday night.

Mrs. Weikert, with her daughter, Mrs. Clarence P. Keefer, also of New Oxford, was riding toward York along the Lincoln Highway in an automobile when they collided with a machine being driven in the opposite direction by Wolf. With Wolf at the time of the mishap was his father, Howard Wolf, the owner of the car.

Blocked Road

Mrs. Keefer, driver of the machine in which her mother was killed, was the first to testify at the inquest. She told the jury that she was traveling at between twenty and twenty-five miles per hour, when suddenly the Wolf car appeared from behind a machine driven by J. C. Bender, of Hanover. Noticing the approach of the car, Wolf, instead of falling back of Bender, turned to his left and blocked the road, she said.

Wolf gave a different story of the accident. He said that as he turned to go around the Bender machine he noticed the Keefer machine zigzagging its way down the road. In an endeavor to avoid a collision he turned to his left into the path along the side of the road. Then, he claimed, Mrs. Keefer's car zigzagged once more, this time crashing into his machine.

His father corroborated his son's statements. The elder Wolf claimed that the Keefer machine was traveling at least forty miles per hour.

J. C. Bender, of Hanover, owner of the car which Wolf attempted to pass, failed to see the Keefer car zigzag and said that Wolf blocked the road so that Mrs. Keefer could not pass. He was sitting in the back seat of his machine and his vision of the accident was such that he believed Wolf could have fallen back and averted the accident.

Joseph Rutter, a member of the York police force, who was informed of the accident soon after it happened, went to the scene out of curiosity and engaged in conversation with the participants. Then, he claimed, young Wolf admitted that he was responsible for the accident.

Jury's Verdict

The jury concluded that Mrs. Weikert came to her death "from injuries sustained in an automobile accident when two cars collided on the Lincoln Highway, when a car driven by Leonard Wolf turned to the left on the highway and collided with one driven by Mrs. Clarence Keefer. From evidence obtained, the jury finds that said driver, Leonard Wolf, was on the wrong side of the highway and is responsible for the accident."

The jury which conducted the investigation was composed of James Irving, Frank Miller, Richard Wolford, William Henry, Harry Beard and Herbert R. Lemmon.

Trooper Haley, Victim of Bandit, is Memorialized by Marker Along Highway

Unpretentious Monument Is Unveiled With Simple Ceremonies At Graeffenberg Inn As Tribute To Hero Shot In Performance of Duty While Chasing Robber.

To perpetuate the spirit of heroism of Francis L. Haley, a Pennsylvania State Trooper, who, when mortally wounded by a shot from the pistol of a fleeing bank robber, breathed a command to "Get that man," an unpretentious monument was unveiled this afternoon on the place the courageous officer died.

Haley, a native of Pottsville, was an unpretentious, unassuming trooper, comparatively young in the state service, and the exercises this afternoon near the Adams-Franklin county line, ten miles west of here, were in keeping with his character and demeanor—simple, unpretentious and unornamented.

The trooper was killed late on the afternoon of October 14, 1924, while trying to arrest Philip A. Hartman, who previously held up the cashier of the Abbottstown State bank in the eastern section of Adams county, robbing the institution of $1,400.

Sent out from the Chambersburg state police sub-station to patrol the Lincoln Highway in the direction of Gettysburg, from where news of the robbery had been broadcast, Haley saw a lone passenger in a speeding motor car. Turning his motorcycle around, the trooper went in pursuit.

As he drew up beside the car, the lone occupant, who later was identified as Hartman, drew a pistol and shot while the automobile and motorcycle were traveling at break-neck speed. Trooper Haley, shot through the heart, could not return the fugitive's fire, but ran his motorcycle to the side of the road where he fell over.

Looking after the rapidly disappearing automobile, the officer, with his dying breath, said: "I'm shot. Get that man!" Having uttered these words, he died. Haley was the fourteenth member of the state police force to die in the discharge of duty.

Hartman surrendered to Reading police several days after the killing, while one of the most extensive man-hunts ever conducted in Pennsylvania was drawing a net around the suspect. Major Lynn G. Adams, superintendent of the state police department, personally supervised the roundup of Trooper Haley's slayer, and was one of the witnesses at the murderer's trial here in January, 1925. Hartman was electrocuted at the Rockview penitentiary November 30, 1925, and his body brought back to Adams county and buried in a little cemetery at Abbottstown beside his mother, whose death occurred while he was under sentence of death.

Ross K. Gilbert, editor of a Chambersburg newspaper, raised funds for the Trooper Haley marker from banking institutions in Adams and Franklin counties. The memorial consists of a base of native stone, on which is a shaft of granite, bearing a bronze tablet with the following inscription:

"I'm shot. Get that man."
"Thus spoke, on October 14, 1924, Francis L. Haley, a member of the Pennsylvania state police, as he fell mortally wounded by a bullet fired by the escaping robber of the Abbottstown State bank, 27 miles east of this place, on the Lincoln Highway."

The state police department has dramatized the life and death of Trooper Haley in a moving picture entitled "The Life of State Policeman Haley." It shows, in addition to Trooper Haley's dramatic and heroic career, the training and duties of state policemen, and is being shown without cost throughout the state.

MUSICIAN HURT AS TRUCK HITS PARKED MACHINE

Member of Peck Mills

Hospital Here; Cars
Damaged In Crash.

Julian Stanley, 23, of St. Mary's, West Virginia, was badly cut about the head and face when the truck on which he was riding was forced off the Lincoln Highway, ran into the sedan of S. A. Buhrman, Straban township, parked along the road, and upset this morning at 8 o'clock.

Stanley, cornetist in Peck Mills orchestra, was riding on the truck, driven by Herman N. Richard, York, which was taking the orchestra's instruments to Cleveland, Ohio, from York. He was admitted to the Warner hospital where it was said his injuries are not serious.

The machine, which forced the truck from the road, causing the accident, did not stop and in the excitement the license number was overlooked.

Beside the driver of the truck and Stanley, Floyd Mills, brother of the orchestra leader, was on the truck. Stanley was the only one injured.

After the truck left the highway, it crashed into the rear of Mr. Buhrman's machine. Both the truck and the sedan had to be towed to Gettysburg.

CYCLE AND AUTO ARE IN COLLISION

Brother of Child Killed By Train Figures In Accident At York Springs.

The family of Harry C. Wolfe, near Bittinger's station, must now be impressed with the truth of the adage that "troubles large or small never come singly."

Late Thursday afternoon, Robert C. Wolfe, one of the youngest of the ten children in the Wolfe family, was struck and instantly killed by a Western Maryland passenger train near its home.

On Friday, while Theodore Wolfe, about 18, was riding toward Mt. Holly Springs on a motorcycle, his machine and a truck, driven by Mrs. William Hart, York Springs, collided in that community.

Mrs. Hart was turning off the Carlisle road when the cyclist, traveling north, crashed into her truck.

No one was injured but the motorcycle was badly damaged and the truck also was broken up somewhat.

FIND BODY OF DROWNED MAN

Assistant Postmaster at Green-castle Meets Death While On Fishing Trip.

Hagerstown, Md., July 23.—Following a search of more than twenty-four hours, the body of Harold Austin McKinnie, 50 years old, assistant postmaster of Greencastle, was found in the waters of Licking Creek, near Peetonville, Washington county, late last evening.

Louis Smith and Richard Smith, both of Hagerstown, members of a party of campers, were the first to reach the body.

Whether McKinnie became exhausted while wading the creek fishing or fell from a tree which extends over the creek at the point where he was last seen alive, has not been determined.

With J. Bowman Metz, Waynesboro druggist, McKinnie was spending several days fishing in the Potomac River and in Licking Creek. Thursday morning they separated with the understanding that McKinnie would wade the stream and fish to a point where Metz would be waiting. Failure of McKinnie to put in an appearance led Metz to search for him, and later to call for help.

McKinnie is well known throughout South Pennsylvania and is a native of St. Thomas, Franklin county. He has a wife and young son.

MICHAEL IS NOW RICHEST CHILD

New King of Rumania Estimated To Be Worth $70,000,000.

Bucharest, July 23.—(AP)—Little five-year-old King Michael, who only last week sat in a $10 American chair, ate bread and jam and cookies and wore a bib just like any other child, is today probably the richest child, royal or plebeian, in the world.

Under Ferdinand's will, he receives property valued at $30,000,000, about $400,000 in cash and all the crown jewels, which have been appraised at $35,000,000. He also will receive a civil list of $500,000 annually and emoluments of $2,000,000, bringing his total fortune to nearly $70,000,000.

Before his grandfather's death Michael's mother, the Princess Helen, spent about $50 a year on his toys and about $300 on his clothes and shoes.

From his plain $20 crib where he once played with a 10 cent American rattle this baby has been elevated to the golden throne of a king to wear a bejeweled crown valued at $5,000,000.

Considerable discussion is now going on relative to the fairness of the two blows to the stomach, administered by Dempsey a moment before he floored Sharkey, who claims that he was fouled.

AUTO NEWS

CHRYSLER CHIEF STUDIES EUROPE

Chrysler Export Director Reports Company's Foreign Business Excellent.

Returning to Detroit after an extended foreign trip of nearly five months which took him to the principal cities of Great Britain, Continental Europe and South America, E. C. Morse, director of export sales of the Chrysler Sales Corporation, expresses gratification regarding the development of automobile exports in the past, and optimism over the prospects for their continued growth.

"While in Europe I had a close-up view of automobile conditions in seven different countries," said Mr. Morse. "Throughout Europe generally the outlook for the automobile industry is bright, and Chrysler business is particularly gratifying. Ever since the '70' was presented as the company's first offering in the European field, Chrysler cars have made a profound impression on the motor buying public. On the continent, as in England, our 1927 business is registering an even accelerated growth. The Chrysler winged radiator cap is almost as familiar a sight in Paris as it is in Detroit."

"In England, where the Chrysler has been exceedingly popular from the time it was introduced, sales are more than twice as large as they were last year, and are the best we have had since we entered the British market three years ago."

Mr. Morse left Detroit late last January and the first part of his foreign journeying was in England, France, Belgium, Denmark, Germany, Holland and Portugal in all of which countries he reports that Chrysler business is in excellent shape.

He is especially enthusiastic over his visit to South America where he went direct from Europe.

"South America ranks among the most important foreign markets for automobiles," he said. "Argentina leads in this respect among the countries of the southern continent. Of its present registration of automobiles, which is about 200,000, fully 97 per cent were built in the United States."

"Our country's influence has been felt in a marked degree among our Latin-American automobile friends. As a result of continued efforts by industrial leaders in the United States, and particularly by automobile executives, a series of visits has been interchanged by representative delegations from South America and the United States, and engineers, journalists and Pan-American Union visitors have had opportunities for thorough study of our highway development methods and our automotive production processes."

"No prominence has been given to sales efforts in these contacts, and the disinterested 'Big Brother' attitude of the United States has left a marked impression on Latin-Americans. A strong sentiment for better highway system has been stimulated in the southern continent with a natural desire for automobiles to drive on them."

"We drove from Rio de Janeiro to Sao Paulo and back, 609 kilometers each way, most of the way over a very good roadway. In the state of Sao Paulo an extensive program of highway improvement has been carried on, and the state of Rio de Janeiro is building a system of good roads to connect with those of its neighbor. In fact, all the South American centers of population are awake to the benefits of highway of highway betterment and are inaugurating or completing good roads programs."

"The result is naturally a reflex benefit to the automobile industry. Automotive exports to South America have been increasing steadily. Exports of automobiles from the United States to South America in the first four months of 1927 were more than 55 per cent of the total exports for the entire year 1926."

"Chrysler exports are even better than the average for the industry, and are running more than 70 per cent above those in the early 1926 months."

"Good crops in South America have helped to increase the demand. It is a noticeable and to-be-expected fact about export trade to South America that sales as a rule fluctuate sharply according to local economic conditions there. The automobile industry has been an exception in this respect, buying holding fairly steady in good and poor times, but of course, the improved prosperity of the country undoubtedly finds some reflection in the increase of automobile purchasers."

Mr. Morse announced the appointment of two important distributors for Chrysler cars as a result of his visit to South America. Effective July 1, Chrysler distribution in Argentina will be handled by Resta Hermanos, S. A., who have drawn up plans for a building in Buenos Aires which will take rank with the hand-somest and best equipped motor establishments in the world. At Sao Paulo, Brazil, Chrysler will be represented by Companhia Nacional de Automoveis, S. A.

Tours National Parks

Starting from the campus of the University of Southern California, Chevrolet Imperial Landau has set out, under the direction of the Chevrolet Motor Company, on a circle tour of western national parks to secure pictures of the scenic wonderlands of the west and to report on the general conditions of the highways leading up to them. Willard S. Wood, the Chevrolet tourist, is indicating the route to Harold Stouffer, vice-president of the University.

INVITE PUBLIC TO RADIO CONCERT

Buick Company Sponsors Broadcasting of Good Program Saturday Night.

Residents of Gettysburg and vicinity are cordially invited to visit the showroom of The Gettysburg Buick company, local Buick dealers, tonight, and hear the famous Arthur Pryor and his band, Roxy and his gang, and the rest of the Buick Motor company's special announcement program, which is being broadcast from coast to coast, and also to see the new 1928 Buick models, now on display. The three broadcasting networks of the National Broadcasting company have been engaged, for an hour each, to span the continent with special music heralding Buick for 1928.

Never before has an automobile manufacturer utilized broadcasting facilities in connection with his announcement, and never before, except in the case of presidential addresses and the homecoming of Lindbergh, has any feature, commercial or otherwise, monopolized the great nationwide broadcasting network. Buick's action in engaging the three great broadcasting chains was consistent with Buick's leadership in the automobile world, a leadership which charges any Buick announcement with unique interest.

Those who prefer may tune in at home on any or all of the three Buick special programs. The Blue network, through its key station, WJZ, New York, will go on the air at 9 to 10 p. m., Eastern Daylight Saving Time; 8 to 9 p. m., Eastern Standard Time, or 7 to 8 p. m., Central Standard Time, with a program by the famous Arthur Pryor and his band. The Red will follow, one hour later, with that Radio listeners' favorite, Roxy and His Gang, over WEA and affiliated stations, and the Pacific network will broadcast a concert orchestra program, also specially arranged for the Buick announcement event. Each program will last one hour. Since many of the stations of the three chains have overlapping territories of reception, it will be possible for thousands of listeners to tune in on all three programs.

In listening to all or any of the three great special musical hours sponsored by Buick, the public will in a sense participate in the making not only of automobile history, but radio history too, for tonight's evening of broadcasting, like the Buick for 1928 which it heralds, is entirely without precedent.

PONTIAC PRICES ARE NOW LOWER

All Passenger Models Included in Reduction; Lower Costs Responsible.

Price reductions of $30 to $50 on all passenger models in the Pontiac line effective July 15, due to the economies effected through the completion and operation of its enormous new factories at Pontiac, Michigan, together with the increased volume of business, is announced by the Oakland Motor Car company.

"These price reductions are possible because of the greater facilities afforded through a $15,000,000 expansion program," says W. R. Tracy, vice president in charge of sales. "The new plant for building of Pontiac cars exclusively was completed in April and is now in the full swing of operation. While it was anticipated that the improved manufacturing facilities would bring about more efficient operation and permit reductions in production costs, it was not expected that such a substantial price reduction would be made possible in so short a time."

The fact that the huge Pontiac plant reached maximum production within 60 days after its completion is one of the rare achievements in automotive history and is responsible in a large way for the price reduction so soon after its completion. It was the largest single industrial construction contract awarded in the United States last year and the largest single automotive project ever completed at one time. It afforded large savings by virtue of almost immediate full productivity from so great an investment.

Numerous and large economies also were expected of this new factory which ranks as the "last word" in modern precision motor car manufacture. Through the use of miles of modern progressive conveyors, innumerable electric hoists, hundreds of improved automatic machines, single handling of all parts and assemblies and virtual transfer of manual labor to machinery, new economies in production costs were developed that quickly made a price reduction possible.

Oakland enjoys the advantage of few expensive transportation costs of materials and parts. The Fisher Body company plant which builds bodies for Pontiac Sixes adjoins the Pontiac factory and a conveyor brings the bodies from the Fisher plant to the new Pontiac assembly line effecting a tremendous saving. These and many other economies are contributing to the production of automobiles at less cost and this saving, according to Oakland Motor Car company officials, is being passed on to the buying public through this price reduction.

Now - Even Lower Prices!
- YET STILL GREATER BEAUTY

Amazing increase in Pontiac Six value made possible by the economies of the world's newest and finest motor car factory.

The announcement last week of a smarter, more beautiful Pontiac Six at surprising price reductions was an unexpected sensation. High quality and low prices had been winning thousands to the Pontiac Six. But due to increasing production in the mammoth new $12,000,000 Pontiac Six plant, savings were being effected. And these were passed to the public, together with the additional value represented in new Duco colors!

Now the Pontiac Six is the only low-priced six offering: Bodies by Fisher—the largest engine used in any six priced up to $1,000—and an oiling system which forces 250 gallons of oil an hour through the engine at 35 m. p. h.!

These are only a few of the features which make today's Pontiac Six a triumph of modern design and production! Come in! Learn how much MORE you get in the Pontiac Six at new low prices!

Happenings of Days Gone by as Chronicled in The Star and Sentinel and The Gettysburg Times, the Film Reel.

TEN YEARS AGO

Farewell Reception.—Mrs. A. V. Scott and daughters, Misses Rachel and Rosa Scott, were given a reception by the Presbyterian Christian Endeavor society Wednesday evening. A watch was presented in appreciation of the work they have done for the church and the community during their stay here. They will soon go to Easton, where they will make their future home. Both Miss Rachel Scott and Miss Rosa Scott were for a number of years on the teaching staff of the local public schools, where they served with marked ability.

May Enlist.—Charles C. Culp, Dorsey Sowers and Howard Sheaffer, all of whom are included in the list of men drawn for the draft, went to Philadelphia today to investigate the questions pertaining to enlisting. It is possible that all three may join the Navy, though they wanted to assure themselves on certain points before deciding definitely.

Tell Tale Paper Gives Up Secret.—The discovery of a marriage certificate sticking out of the bridegroom's pocket foiled completely a plan to keep secret the marriage of Miss Marguerite G. Oyler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Oyler, Chambersburg street, and J. Houston Snyder, of Carlisle. The wedding took place in Hagerstown on Tuesday.

In the morning the couple left town saying they were going to Pen Mar to spend the day. Instead they went to Hagerstown where they were married at St. John's Lutheran parsonage by the Rev. J. Edward Harms, the pastor. They returned to Gettysburg on the evening train, firm in their decision not to tell anyone. However, Mr. Snyder hung up his coat after he reached the Oyler home and Miss Bertha Oyler, a sister of the bride, saw a long yellow paper protruding from the inside pocket. She investigated to find what it contained and it proved to be the marriage document. Mr. Snyder attended college here for three years. The past term he has been living at Newville, near which town he taught school. They will make their home in Carlisle.

Has Operation.—Roy E. Zinn underwent an operation for appendicitis in the Chambersburg hospital Monday afternoon. He was on one of his trips for the John C. Lower company during the morning and was taken ill while at Orttanna. His brother, John Zinn, and Doctors Dickson and Crist accompanied him to Chambersburg where a successful operation was performed.

To Erect Big Tent Theatre.—With a seating capacity of between 1300 and 1400, a big tent theatre is to be erected in Gettysburg this week, and a musical comedy company, numbering twenty-five people, will open for a summer engagement within a very short time.

Foster G. Wyer, the owner and manager of the show, was induced to come to Gettysburg by Roy Purviance, who has made his home near Orttanna, and who for a number of years has been prominently identified with some of the leading musical comedies.

The tent theatre is to be placed along the Emmitsburg road immediately south of the borough limits on land owned by William H. Johns.

State Insists on Clean Town.—Gettysburg faces the immediate taking over by the State Health Department of the sanitary or unsanitary conditions of the town. The removal of all hog pens from the borough, daily inspections of all premises in the town and several other drastic forms of procedure must be followed or Dr. Samuel G. Dickson, state commissioner, will step in.

Town House Purchased.—C. B. Dougherty has purchased from the Welty estate the two-story brick dwelling on York street. The purchase price was $3805.

On Duty.—Norman Tipton, son of R. Lee Tipton, East Middle street, and who has been a member of the state police force for a number of years, has been assigned to duty in this territory and has entered upon his work here.

Personal.—Miss Mary Grove, of Philadelphia, has gone to Syracuse, New Jersey, to enter camp hospital. She is one of the Red Cross nurses.

Miss Margaret Twomey, who recently finished a course at Beacom's business college in Wilmington, Delaware, has returned to her home on Chambersburg street.

The following Camp Fire girls of the Reformed church are spending several days at Pen Mar: Misses Katharine Duncan, Mindell Grindler, Mary Eden, Mildred Eden and Ellen Tipton.

W. I. Bickle and daughter, Frances, Washington, D. C. are spending several days at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. Warren Gilbert, York street.

Miss Mary Ramer, Baltimore street, is visiting with friends in Harrisburg for a week.

Miss Reba Miller has returned to her home on York street after a visit of several weeks at Roaring Springs.

Miss Zelma Carper, of Winchester, Virginia, is a guest of Miss Marguerite Oyler at her home on Chambersburg street.

Mrs. William Hersh and Miss Henrietta Hersh and Miss Ruth Bream have returned to their homes here after spending several weeks at Ontario, Canada, and Buffalo, New York.

Miss Anna Oyler, York street, is spending several weeks in Philadelphia and Atlantic Highlands, New Jersey.

Mrs. H. A. Crouse and Miss Esther Crouse are spending some time in Hagerstown and Cumberland.

Dr. Paul R. Sieber spent the past few days at the home of his parents, Dr. and Mrs. L. L. Sieber, West Middle street. Dr. Sieber will leave shortly for France as a member of a medical unit.

Miss Cora Topper has returned to her home on Baltimore street after a visit of several days at Aspers.

Miss Elizabeth Miller, North Stratton street, has gone to Baltimore to visit friends and relatives.

Miss Ethel Culp, York street, is spending the day at Arendtsville.

Mrs. W. W. Bell and Miss Martha Bell, East Middle street, are spending several days with friends at New Oxford.

Mrs. Milton Plasser Dies At Latimore Home

Mrs. Milton Plasser, 41, died at her home in Latimore township Friday evening at 6 o'clock of a complication of diseases.

THE UNFINISHED CITY

They're always tearing up the town,
And glad am I 'tis so.
They're always pulling buildings down
That larger ones may grow.
There seems to be no quiet street
Where things are settled and complete.

These great machines are ugly things
Which trench and lift and dig
And yet 'tis ugliness which brings
The pains of growing big.
'Tis strange, wherever I have been,
A perfect town I've never seen.

What is to be I cannot say.
What have I've known and lost;
There comes a change with every day.
Old dreams aside are tossed.
A building holds its place, and then
Comes down that men may build again.

And if you fret at barricades,
And piles of bricks and stone,
If from your sight some beauty fades,
Which you have loved and known,
Think not the turn up city strange,
For life itself is constant change.

Little Jack Rabbit

By David Cory

"Now, what shall I do next?" thought the little rabbit, as Professor Jim Crow waved goodbye and flew away to some nice place in Paraguay,—beg pardon, I mean Rabbiland.

"Wait a minute please, dear Professor Jim Crow," shouted the bunny boy, an idea, or, to be more exact, a question coming into his little mind.

"Well, what is it?" rather impatiently asked the old crow, winging his way back. "What's on your mind?"

"Why does this caterpillar have two such queer staring eyespots on his back," and the little bunny opened again the leaf that was so neatly folded around the fuzzy little person.

"Most likely Loving Mother Nature provided these terrifying make-believe eyes to frighten away an enemy that otherwise might make a meal of the tiny caterpillar," explained the wise old crow. "You were startled, weren't you, when you opened the leaf?"

"Deed I was," admitted the honest little bunny.

"So might be a hungry bird who was looking for his breakfast," laughed Professor Crow. "The unwinking stare of those two strange eyes no doubt would frighten away a feathered hunter. That little caterpillar has no weapon with which to defend himself."

"How long will he stay in the leaf?" asked the curious little bunny boy.

"You can find that out for yourself," cawed the old crow. "Take home this sassafras caterpillar, with some of the bush's leaves for food, and he will come out by and by as a beautiful butterfly called the Green Clouded Swallowtail. But you may have to wait for his appearance until next spring."

"Oh, I will, I will," cried the little bunny, and picking up the folded leaf, in which the fuzzy little person still lay undisturbed, he plucked maybe a dozen leaves, and placed them all most carefully in his knapsack. Then buckling it up, he swung it over his shoulders and started back for home. As he hopped merrily toward the dear Old Bramble Patch, he passed dozens of butterflies upon the wing; the mourning cloak; the big red-brown milk-weed butterfly; the big yellow tiger swallowtail; the small yellow cabbage butterfly and the red admiral, for July is butterfly month. Yes, indeed, "little reader of my stories. Lovely summer is here, and every year you may learn more and more of the habits of birds and insects, trees and flowers. I wish you all could take my hand and gaily wander through the land; see how the busy little bee is gathering honey on the leaf; how mother birds with watchful eye teach little feathered ones to fly; the mother otter, sleek and slim, instructing her little ones to swim; the mother possum bend her tail across her back just like a rail, to which the little ones will cling safe on her back when

Iowa Woman Found Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Always Helpful

Vinton, Iowa.—"When I was seventeen years old I had to stay at home from school. I finally had to quit school, I was so weak. I suffered for about two years before I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I read all of your little ones of your books and read it. I began taking the medicine. Now I am a housekeeper with six children, and I have taken it before each one was born. I cannot tell you all the good I have received from it. When I am not as well as can be I take it. I have been doing this for over thirty years and it always helps me. I read all of your little books I can get and I tell everyone I know what the Vegetable Compound does for me."—Mrs. FRANK SELLERS, 510 7th Avenue, Vinton, Iowa.

Many girls in the fourth generation are learning through their own personal experiences the beneficial effects of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Mothers who took it when they were young are glad to recommend it to their daughters.

For over half a century women have praised this reliable medicine.

The open express body, with enclosed cab, is widely used by butchers, builders, manufacturers, plumbers—and similar users who do not need to protect the load against the weather.

The Chevrolet 1-Ton De Luxe paneled truck is one of the handiest delivery units on the street and highways. Widely used by department stores, furniture, dry cleaners, etc.

The 1-Ton canopy express body, equipped with curtains to protect the load in inclement weather, is ideal for produce dealers, hardware merchants, etc. Can be equipped with screen sides.
